Topic 2 College!
Conversation 2 Buffets

Charles: Hi Diane—this is my new roommate Jack. (to Jack) Jack, Diane and I are friends from high school. We even went to prom together!

Jack: Wow. Hi, Diane. I'm pleased to meet prom 學校舞會 just beginning to eat lunch. Would you like to go to a formal dance at a high school?

Diane: Sure. What are you both eating?

Charles: I'm having the meatloaf sandwich, with a side of mashed potatoes. I think it's today's daily special.

Jack: And I'm having a burrito. It's delicious.

Diane: Interesting. By the way, can I offer an opinion? I must say that I'm not terribly impressed with this cafeteria. This whole building is in decrepit shape. The paint on the walls is peeling, and the floor looks pretty dirty.

Charles: Yeah. I don't think I'm going to come here again. I'm going to prepare my food in my room.

Jack: You mean "our" room, right?

Charles: Sure. Our room. I apologize.

你如果擁有生物力學學位，前途似錦。

Jack: I wouldn't mind sleeping by the window. Do you mind if I take that one?

Charles: Not at all. I'd like the desk over there. This one looks as if it was made of Styrofoam. It looks as if it's about to break in two.

Jack: You might be right. I think the desk is pretty flimsy. Perhaps it's made of cardboard.

Charles: What are you planning on studying?

Jack: International Relations. What about you?

Charles: Biomechanical Engineering. Maybe I'll be pre-med as well.

Jack: That's a good field to study. You can be pretty successful with a college degree in Biomechanics.

Charles: I suppose so. By the way, did you bring a heater? I think it gets pretty cold here in the winter time.

Jack: Yeah, my Mom brought a portable heater for me.

Charles: Say, do you want to go get some lunch? I'm starving.

Jack: Yeah. Where do you want to eat?

Charles: Do you want to go to the school cafeteria?

Conversation 4 Scheduling

Jenny: Well, my major right now is Anthropology, but I'm also thinking of studying Psychology. I'm really undecided 人類學 the study of the history of human beings.

Jack: Wow. Right now, I'm not quite undecided 人類學 major right now is "Undecided."

Jenny: What don't you make political science as your major? Our last class seemed pretty interesting. I might make political science a minor of mine.

Jack: You're pretty ambitious to want to study all of these subjects all at the same time. Do you think you can achieve all your goals?

Jenny: I hope so. However, I've a number of scheduling conflicts. For example, I'd love to take Abnormal Psychology, but it meets at the same time as another one of my classes.

Jack: Which one?

Jenny: This one: "Introduction to Political Science." Do you think Matt is going to be a harsh grader?

Jack: I'm not sure. You can probably check with the course review book, though.

Topic 3 Academics
Conversation 1 Welcome to Class

Introduction:
Jack and Jenny are freshmen at Bainbridge University, taking their first course in college. Matt is their TA for "Introduction to Political Science," a lower-level class. The following conversation takes place right after class begins.

Dialogue:
Matt: Good morning class, I'm Matt, your TA. Welcome to Political Science 101, entitled, "Introduction to Political Science." I'm hoping that we're all going to have a good semester together. Does anyone have any preliminary questions before we begin today's section?

Jenny: Excuse me, Matt? I'm currently not enrolled in your class, but I'd like to get in.

Matt: What is your current situation?

Jenny: Right now, I'm auditing your class, but I'd like to officially enroll in choose the role day.

Topic 3 Academics
Conversation 3 John Locke

Matt: According to Locke, this law of nature is this vague notion that you can't harm other people or steal their property. Otherwise, anyone in the state of nature can come and hurt you. He also writes that men are by nature "all free, equal and independent."

Jack: Does Locke say anything else about the state of nature?

Matt: He also says, in agreement with Hobbes, that people must preserve their own lives within this state of nature. Eventually, people will consent to create a political society for themselves.

Matt: 根據洛克學說，自然法則是模糊的概念，你不能傷害他人，或偷竊他人財物。否則，任何處於自然狀態的人都可以來傷害你。他還寫道，人類是生而「自由、平等和獨立的」。

Jack: 洛克對於自然狀態有沒有其他的主張？

Matt: 他也主張，和霍布斯看法相同，人們必須在這自然狀態內保有他們自己的生命。最後人們會為了自己而同意制定一個政治社會。
